He attended grade school at the Alamo Community School, later graduating from Noble High School with the Bears Class of 1953. Jim joined the United States Army and served his country proudly in Germany. After his service, he returned back home to Lexington. By chance, he met a young lady named Deanna Kaye Hall. She was the girl who just happened to live next door, and the rest as they say is history. Jim and Deanna were married on March 18, 1960 at the Lexington United Methodist Church. They began their life together on the family farm, and have called it home ever since. Jim began working at the First National Bank in Okla. City, and later worked for the University of Oklahoma. He then owned and operated his own HVAC business, Page Heat & Air until retirement. Jim was an active Member of the Lexington American Legion, and enjoyed the many meetings and events throughout the years. Jim loved wood carving and creating beautiful gifts, and he especially enjoyed carving walking canes. He later picked up jig saw puzzles, and framed dozens so he could keep them. He was a man of great faith, and longtime member of the Lexington United Methodist Church. He cherished Deanna, his family and his friends. He will be dearly missed!

“ I feel very blessed to have known Jim. He's a good man. Charged very little for his heat and air services. He even kept my well house and water running, dire necessities, life and death, always there for anyone who needed his help, anyone struggling to make ends meet, his good prices reflecting that fact. When Jim retired, I was devastated. Who's going to take care of us now? That's when he told me about Manning, one of his pallbearers, a life saver, a good man just like Jim. One of my favorite memories of Jim is when he talked me into spending an extra 65 dollars so that he could add some stop leak to my Freon because it was leaking, saving me a lot of money in the long run. As far as I know, it hasn't leaked to this day, and that was YEARS ago. On one occasion, Jim let me pay him with a free house cleaning coupon which took Deanna, his wife, several years to cash in, Deanna (Dee) a blessing, too. I think she wanted to clean her house first before I showed up. What Dee didn't know then, I prefer houses that need my help. That way, I can tell I've been there, and Dee can tell because I eat her cookies. Thank you Dee and Jim, for your friendship, your financial support, and my three little precious kittens, Baby Dee, Flyboy and Boo, a blessing beyond words. Just like the way I saw Jim last, a day before he passed, finally getting some much needed sleep, breathing easily, Jim all fuzzy, white and soft, like an angel. He looked peaceful. I'm grateful for that memory. I'm also grateful for the walking stick Jim gave me, one of many ornate cane masterpieces he carved himself. I wanted one because it was made and signed by Jim (J.P), which makes it very special to me. I picked it because it's beautiful, because it has four bullet chambers, and because I needed a gun. ~
