“ I taught vocal music in Fletcher at the time Janie Brock was teaching. I got permission to do a major musical "if I could get a cast together." The 1st musical we did was "Oklahoma" and Rick was in the part of Jud Frye. (This was the 1st of several musicals where Rick had a leading role.) I understand that Rick once sang Jud's song going down the hospital corridor after he became a doctor. "Poor Jud is dead, poor Jud Frye is dead." Rick contributed so much to those musicals in little Fletcher town, and although he was just in high school his influence led to their success. Thank you, Rick.
