“ Man this is so hard to fathom. When he lived here in Russellville, we spent a lot of time together. He had a smile that would light up a room and thought he could dance better than Michael Jackson.. We had so much fun singing karaoke, and enjoying life. I hadn't spoke to him in a long time and just recently he replied to me on a Facebook post and we got caught up on life and what was happening with one another.. I told him that I was working for myself now and I would like to come visit because his sister married one of my best friends. I told him the next time he seen him to hug him real tight and don't let go until it was super awkward then whisper in his ear, this is from Clint. Friends have always been super important to me in my life and I told him how much I miss him and his brother-in-law James I'm glad I got the opportunity to let him know how much he meant to me. I told him to hug his mama and tell her also that that was from me His father and his mother were like second parents when I was younger we called them moms and pops.. travis was blessed with the family who surrounded him and let him know how much his value was in this world. I'm forever grateful to be able to call him a friend and I will miss him terribly. I'm just sorry I wasn't able to get there before he passed there's no doubt in my mind. He's in a better place catching up on time missed with his son. No parent should ever have to bury their children. My heart goes out to his family and friends. I love you guys so much. This truly broke my heart.
